PERSONAL AND FAMILY INFORMATION

Born: December 14, 1914, Piotrków Trybunalski, Poland. Died: February 13, 2010, Kenmore, New York.

Family

Grandmother, maternal: Mrs. Baranowska

Parents: Edward and Zuzanna (née Baranowska) Birnbaum Note: their three surviving male children changed their names to Drzewieniecki (Jan and Włodzimierz) and Drzewecki (Artur) in 1937. Before the war, the brothers confirmed family oral history that their ancestor (Ewald Herman Birnbaum) came to Warsaw from the Duchy of Courland (now part of Latvia) to take charge of the Botanical Gardens of the University of Warsaw in 1814 in the Garden's records. These were destroyed in WWII but an early history of the Gardens now available online confirms this version:

https://archive.org/stream/krlowskiuniwers00bielgoog/krlowskiuniwers00bielgoog_djvu.txt.

Further data collected by Joanna Drzewieniecki indicates that E.H. Birnbaum was most likely a German Mennonite who migrated to Courland after having lived in Holland or a German Lutheran but this cannot be confirmed.

Siblings: (Włodzimierz was the second to youngest; at least three children died before the first surviving child).

- Zofia (married Ignacy Popczyk and, after his death: Jan Górzyński). Had two children: Lech and Mirosław.
- Artur (Artur Drzewecki). No children.
- Teodora Wacława (Tosia; married Stefan Daszkiewicz). Had two children: Krzysztof and Stefan.
- Jan, professional military officer. Married Hania. Died in the Warsaw Uprising in 1944. Had two children: Krystyna Drzewieniecka, Bogdan Drzewieniecki.
- Elżbieta (married Jan Bielski), dentist. Had two children: Magda and Hania.

First wife (1945-1990): Zofia Anna Drzewieniecki (née Wiśniewski; name from first marriage: Zofia Krzyżanowska) born: Warsaw, Poland, March 1, 1910, died: Kenmore, New York, November 8, 1990. Professions: lawyer, diplomat, Polish YMCA director and staff member; librarian.

Second wife (1997-to his death): Krystyna Cieslak (also known as Krystyna Nasiukiewicz [pen name] and Krystyna Drzewieniecki), born: Warsaw, Poland, April 28, 1932. Profession: journalist.

Daughter: Joanna Elisabeth Drzewieniecki, born: Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, February 12, 1948. Professions: librarian, human rights activist, political scientist, translator.
